

EARN ALL YOU CAN

Save All You Can --- Give All You Can

UCH was the good advice of John Wesley. You, of course, are entitled to earn all you can whether it be in money, in kind, or in content—and equally you are entitled to get all you earn, similarly you are entitled to save all you can, indeed, you MUST, if you are to receive any lasting benefit from your earnings.

The average person must depend for his future not upon what he earns, not upon what he hopes to make by some lucky speculation of chance, but upon what he saves.

So much for your obligations to yourself. You almost certainly have obligations to others, and not all of these can be discharged by money payments. Many of them can, however, and it is your duty to provide for these commitments.

And so we come to Wesley's third admonition: "Give all you can." How can we give as we should if we spend all we earn upon ourselves? The Savings Account provides the best means.

Decide what you want and when you want it, and then open a Commonwealth Purpose Savings Account at any Branch of this Bank. That is the easy, commonsense way, a real Saving Plan.
