

ROE, JOHN SEPTIMUS (1797-1878)

John Septimus Roe, naval officer, surveyor and explorer was born at Newbury, Berkshire, England on 8 May 1797. His father was Rev. James Roe, rector of Newbury. John was educated at Christ's Hospital, London and in 1813 entered the Royal Navy as a midshipman.

From then until 1829, when he was appointed Surveyor-General of Western Australia, he served on several ships, mainly in the surveying service of New South Wales, where he made coastal surveys of Australia. He was noted for his logbooks, charts and sketches. It was during this period that he developed as a great letter-writer and records-keeper.

He remained Surveyor-General of Western Australia until his retirement in 1870. He helped found the Swan River Mechanics Institute, Perth's first cultural centre. He owned land in the Swan District, the Leschenault district and other places. He was a director of the W.A. Bank. He was a member of the Linnean Society, and later his collections of botanical and ecological and mineral specimens laid the foundations of the Perth Museum.

He died in Perth on 28 May 1878.

The Papers:

The logbooks – except for No's 3. and 5 (Acc 301A & 491A – microfilm) – were lent for copying in 1955 together with a collection of letter books, personal letters, commission, certificates, testimonials, appointments, acts and statutes etc (Acc 563A – microfilm) by Mr. J.F. Roe, Sandalford, West Swan. In March 1976, all this material was received by the State Library WA on indefinite loan from Mrs. M.B. Roe, Sandalford, West Swan.

Mrs. Roe had previously lent a collection of letters for copying in 1955 (Acc 568A) but the originals of these were not received by the State Library WA. Letters already held by the Private Archives collection at the State Library WA (Acc 328A) and those from Acc 563A were inserted in the microfilm, in the correct chronological position, to give continuity of reading.

The second series of logbooks were transferred from the Lands Department in May 1972 (Acc 2162A).

A set of Bearing Logs were received from the Lands and Surveys Department in March 1989 (Acc 4383A). Bearing Logs No's 2 – 8 were missing at the time of transfer. A letter was also donated by the Land's Office, (Acc 649A).

A school composition book and a book of tables for navigational use was donated by the WA Museum (Acc 993A), and a further letter was purchased for the Private Archives Collection on 5 May 1998 (Acc 4883A).
