

ESPERANCE RURAL PROPERTIES

Esperance Rural Properties commenced in 1960 as the Esperance Land and Development Company, when they contracted with the West Australian State Government to partly develop and sell, large tracts of land in the district. The farmed land consisted of eleven stations. Over the years it became ELD Farms, Esperance Partnership and N M Rural Enterprises. In the late 1980s it was Australia's biggest wool producer, but it has also produced sheep, cattle and cereal crops. The company was wound up around 2002.
